PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am an experienced academic with 27 years of expertise in teaching and conducting research in Public Administration, Public Policy and Management. Currently, I hold the position of a Professor at the University of Rajshahi in Bangladesh. I served as an Adjunct Professor at Central Queensland University in Australia for three years. Presently I hold the post of an Associate of the Research Centre for Sustainable Hong Kong (RCSHH) at the City University of Hong Kong. I am well-known for extensive knowledge and proficiency in analysing public policies, urban policies and development, gender and governance, and comparative public administration. Having comprehensive expertise in curriculum creation, quality assurance, and academic leadership, I have made substantial contributions to the progress of higher education in Bangladesh and other regions. I have extensively published my research in internationally recognised journals that undergo rigorous evaluation by experts in the field. Additionally, I have served in editorial and advisory capacities for several academic publications. I have participated in more than 50 national and international consultation projects, specifically focusing on urban and local government, social accountability, and women's political engagement. With a solid dedication to furthering knowledge through creative research and focused teaching, I aim to contribute to effective public policy solutions that tackle global concerns.
